Leading Ahead of Risk

Injuries, claims, turnover, client problems, rework, and compliance issues rarely appear out of nowhere. Often, warning signs existed earlier.

Tradewinds Leadership and LP Insurance interviewed several professionals across construction, mining, and manufacturing to explore where risk begins to grow before an incident occurs.

Join a cross-functional panel for a practical discussion about the human side of risk management and the frontline leadership behaviors that can either expose problems early or allow them to grow.

Attendees will leave with a clear understanding of how to:

- Recognize frontline leadership gaps that increase organizational risk.
- Identify where reporting, communication, and escalation break down.
- Build stronger trust and accountability so problems surface earlier.
